

Agency Priority Goal Action Plan

Improve Customer Experience and Operational Efficiency

Goal Leader(s):

Robert Stephenson, Chief Operating Officer, Farm Production and Conservation (FPAC)
Business Center

Overview

---

Goal Statement

- Enhance the customer experience for farmers, ranchers, and foresters through operational efficiencies and expansion of service delivery channels. By September 30, 2021, USDA modernization and technology efforts will improve customer experiences by avoiding at least $50 million in costs annually, associated with enhancements to acreage reporting, applications and eligibility forms, self-service capabilities, and other process improvements. This time saved will enable employees to spend more time on delivering services and programs to customers directly.

Challenge

- Institutionalizing a whole-lifecycle, customer-centric culture across FPAC.
- Establishing a cross-agency approach to customer relationship management, both from an operational and systems perspective.

Opportunity

- Leverage a cross-agency approach, using customer experience best-practices, to develop cross-organizational and cross-functional ways to gain operational efficiencies and offer new service delivery channels.
- Refine KPIs over time to ensure alignment with FPAC goals and objectives and resource constraints.

Summary of Progress – FY20 Q1-Q2

- Farmers.gov –
  - The Program Increment (PI) planning session cycles have been changed from a 10-week cycle to a 12-week cycle to allow for better penetration of the results from each cycle and to allow more time for subject matter experts (SMEs) to complete the necessary requirements. The Customer Experience (CX) Division and new CX POCs have been formally added to User Centered Design (UCD) role category within the Farmers.gov team to ensure a UCD role is embedded in all the core work streams. The Farmers.gov teams are beginning discussions to join an FPAC initiative to consolidate all Service Desk support functionality and this will roll out as a pilot project to allow for adequate testing prior to full roll out. The overall purpose of the various streams of work is to continue to support the customer experience for our producers by reducing their need for paper and enhancing their ability to request services from FPAC.
- CX Working Group (CX WG) and Enhancement Committee (CXC) collaboration –
  - The CX WG and CXC continue to make significant progress on CX activities across FPAC. These groups meet regularly and are working to identify ways to support the FPAC program agencies and producers as we adjust to a new operating structure required by the COVID-19 pandemic. These activities include collaboration on proposed project ideas and involvement in Farmers.gov User Centered Design (UCD) streams of work. Success is measured by the number of connections we are able to make across silos within FPAC.
- Internal CX and Producer Satisfaction Surveys, including KPI development –
  - The surveys are continuing to receive full support across FPAC and they are embedded with questions that allow for development of baseline metrics related to customer experience inside and outside of FPAC. Both surveys are anticipated to be executed by July-August 2020. The Producer Satisfaction survey seeks to meet OMB Circular A-11 section 280 requirements, develop a statistical look at USDA customers' experience, and align survey results with agency processes and priorities. The Internal CX survey seeks to measure the effectiveness of internal resources, evaluate the effect of internal processes on customer service delivery, and assess the impact of the creation of the FPAC Business Center (Farm Bill requirement).
- CX Division (CXD) Strategy Planning –
  - CXD continues to leverage partners across FPAC to continue to make progress on CX core work. These partners bring a field perspective to the CX work and this experience is a critical element of our work. CXD is participating in the OPM/OMB government-wide hiring action for CX Strategists.
